Building supply lines through remote Papua New Guinea

In 90 days, Agility built the infrastructure backbone needed for road and air delivery of construction materials, equipment and supplies to sites in the Papuan highlands for one of the world's largest natural gas projects. The job required Agility to balance deadlines with vital health, safety, security, environmental and community concerns.

Comprehensive Logistics Solutions for the Largest Project Ever Built in PNG

Agility provided transport and logistics Project Management services throughout the construction phase of PNG LNG (2009-2016). These services included global and domestic freight forwarding, Customs Clearance services, road transport, air bridge solution (2450 loads), and DG and hotshot movements. Agility delivered in excess of 16,565 loads of construction freight to the Hides site, located on the 784km-long Highlands Highway.
